

SCARRED LANDS & WOUNDED LIVES

The Scarred Lands Project presents

Hope For Restoring a Wounded Planet

Invitation to Inspire Social Change

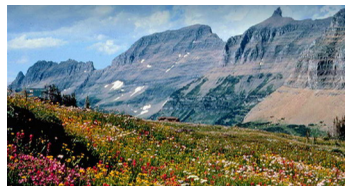

The Scarred Lands Project invites you to use these FREE short films, directed & produced by Alice and Lincoln Day, to help inspire a new ethic of interdependence with the natural world.

The four films highlight environmental peace building and the forging of a new ethic of interdependence with nature. They are based on previously unscreened footage from the filmmakers' award winning Scarred Lands and Wounded Lives: The Environmental Footprint of War, a feature length documentary film that premiered March 2008 at the Environmental Film Festival in the Nation's Capital.

The Shorts (Now available for free digital download at <http://scarredlandsfilm.org>)

Ecosystems, War and Climate Change (4 min.)

Environmental Pathways to Peace Building (6 min.)

The Top Priority (3 min.)

Forging a New Ethic (7 min.)

Plus additional free BONUS videos (also directed and produced by Alice and Lincoln Day):

- What We Are Leaving Behind in Iraq (7 min. short)
- Scarred Lands and Wounded Lives: The Environmental Footprint of War (PBS version - 58 min.)

From National Security to Natural Security

Use these shorts to expose the threat to National Security from the destruction of the Natural Environment in warfare.

- Embed shorts on your website, in your newsletters, articles and blogs.
- Add to your social media campaign (Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, etc.)
- Send shorts to your Congressperson.
- Start a petition. Build a campaign. Grow Supporters.

ScarredLandsFilm.org

Distributed by VideoProject.com • 1.800.4.PLANET

The 68-minute Full Feature Film is also available for purchase for Educational & Community Screenings licensing opportunities.

Contact: Margaret Poindexter, margaret@videoproject.com, 415-382-1459